

Hello Dennis,

This is a rough diagram I have been working on. It is based on a study I received long ago about the same time I use to hear David teach. It is on the rebuilding of Jerusalem by Nehemiah. I have received some revelations on this that may tie this teaching to spirit, soul, and body, as well as a teaching I received on the breastplate of judgement. I believe this scripture lays out a beautiful picture of the human condition. If this is so then what is the New Jerusalem, which is where I am really going with this. However I want to be sure I am sifting this matter through thoroughly, so if you have any information on the layout of Jerusalem and the names of the gates during this time could you please share. I believe most that I have is correct but some research is conflicting in views and I want to be sure.

One day in that little church in Auxvasse, MO., I was telling you about the pastor had invited this very old and thin gentleman who was an archaeologist to speak. The big study in his field was the Great Pyramid of Egypt. He taught that though the pyramid was constructed by Hebrew slaves it was designed by some mystery group from the south, this group is believed to be Israeli as well but some other branch or tribe. They helped design and direct the construction of the pyramid then returned south as mysteriously as they had come. As you know the cornerstone at the top of the pyramid is missing. Many compare to or claim this is the cornerstone referred to in scripture. It is suspected by a small number of theologians and archaeologist that at one time there was a map design at the foot of the pyramid and that the north star (also known as the dragon star), would align it self with the top of the pyramid and shine down and pinpoint a location on the map. Sounds like something out of Indiana Jones huh. Maybe Indiana took the idea from here.

This pinpointed location was reportedly the town of Bethlehem and it was this star that led the three wise men or magi to the Christ child. The magi as you may know where Chaldeans, and the Chaldeans where known to be astrologers and magicians, A point of interest may be the fact that present day Kurds in Northern Iraq are the descendants of this race. Well anyway he went on to teach about the spiritual mysteries of the king and queens burial chambers and how they related to Christians today. He had very interesting discourse on the dragons well which went down to a tunnel that had hash or as he called it time marks on it. as the markings seemed to be a calendar of some sort that recorded major events of time. Now I am talking about all time of earth's history past and future. The North Star reportedly at certain times shines through the structures opening portal and into the well illuminating it thus the name dragons well. The diagram looked something like this minus the top of course.

Now one day while considering these things and studying over the chart at home, my attention was drawn to a speaker on TV. The speaker was Jimmy Swaggert and he was teaching on Jerusalem at the time of Gideon and how Gideon built a well called Gideons Well. So that the Jews could escape the enemy who would siege Jerusalem He talked about the Kings palace and the Queens palace and how in Nehemiah's day the well was known as the dragon well. His chart that he used to diagram Jerusalem looked something like this.

It was immediately apparent to me that the designers of the pyramid and the city of Jerusalem got their inspiration from the same source or master designer. I was excited in the revelation that what Jesus' prayer or exclamation on how he wanted to enfold the city in His arms embraced more than the city itself but a much more deeper and spiritual meaning. What do we know up front about the city itself? Well we know its name means foundation of peace. We know it has from its beginning been a divided city at continuous conflict within itself from its very beginning to the very present not once knowing peace. We know that it has always been inhabited by Israeli's. Israel's name means "He who would wrestle with God". A deeper meaning or root of the word according to the Genesis Hebrew, Chaldee Lexicon means "Those who would rebel against God".

The city has always had two rulers or influences in it. Today it is Muslim and Jew and has varied over time.

More coming. This could take a couple months to complete.
